Hello Andrew,

Now that summer has officially started, the time to finalize your enrollment at DelVal begins. From now through August we will reach out weekly to provide, guidance, information, and support about being a student at DelVal. We will cover many topics including: orientation, financial aid, paying your bill, course registration, housing, and many others!

We know your time as a DelVal student will be full of exciting opportunities and challenges. We look forward to being on that journey with you and your family.

- Preparing for Orientation: Next week on Tuesday, June 16 you will be sent the link to the online orientation. The online orientation can be completed at your pace over the course of the week. Once you complete the orientation we will mail you some Aggie Swag!
- Enrollment Checklist: The Enrollment Checklist, found here, provides an overview of steps to be taken prior to the start of the semester. Now is a good time to familiarize yourself, and your family, with the checklist. We will share more information about the checklist over the course of the summer including the individual items you need to complete.
- Campus Resource Booklet: The booklet provides an overview of information that, while not exhaustive, is typically most helpful to connecting new students with DelVal. This is a good companion piece to reference as you work through the online orientation. The online version can be found here, and a paper version will be mailed to you the week of June 15.

Again, welcome to DelVal! We look forward to getting you prepared for the start of the semester. Please reach out as you have questions.

~ Andrew
